

CV Nils Lindstrand

- 1999- Freelance, specialized in science and technology. Cooperation with a number of Swedish and international magazines and publishing houses.
(See also my web page, www.nisseskrivare.se)
- 1998-1999 Head of publishing at Swedish forestry association (Föreningen Skogen), and editor-in-chief for their magazine, Skog & Forskning.
- 1994-1998 Editor-in-chief for two trade magazines at Arbor publishing house in Stockholm.
- 1984-1994 Science writer for STFI (today Innventia), Sweden's largest research institute (specialized in pulp and paper industry), editor of all information materials, including video production. Press contacts and PR.
- 1981-1984 Swedish Corrosion Institute, training program for Swedish industry engineers. Planning, marketing, production, evaluations.
- 1978-1981 Executive trainee at HQ for Swedish Postal Services, SPS. Work at the marketing department of SPS.
- 1977-1978 Teacher, natural sciences, in Norrköping, Sweden.
- 1976-1977 Military service. Editor of the local newsletter.
- 1973-1976 Bachelor of Science in earth science, chemistry and biology.
- Education (other than mentioned above)
- 1990-1991 Executive training scheme at STFI/Innventia
- 1989 Poppius School of Journalism, specialization in magazine writing and production.
- Miscellaneous
- 2004- (present) Chairman of SFVJ, Swedish organization for science journalism (Member of EUSJA).
- 2007 Grant from Swedish Forest Association, presented by the King of Sweden.
(See also my web page, www.nisseskrivare.se/ommig.html)
- Language skills: Fluent in Swedish and English, reasonably good in German, Norwegian and Danish. I read some Finnish and Russian.